95-010.03 All other entities, including licensed health care professionals providing services through contract, must establish policies for record maintenance and retention, and maintain the records for a minimum of two years after the service has been provided. This regulation does not affect the entity's obligation to retain the records for any other purpose.

95-011 STORAGE AND HANDLING OF MEDICATION

95-011.01 Storage: Any entity responsible for administering or providing medication must ensure appropriate storage of the medication. Medications that are in the possession of an entity for emergency purposes are not covered by these regulations and should be more easily accessible than other medications; however, these medications should still be protected and stored appropriately.

 - d. For faculty who instruct in the clinical area, have a minimum of one year of clinical experience in that clinical specialty; and
 - e. For faculty assigned to teach in the clinical area, be academically and clinically prepared in that clinical specialty.
3. Non-nurse faculty members teaching in a nursing program must have or be working toward a minimum of a master's degree in their field of teaching or function.
 4. If for any temporary emergency reason a program employs a faculty member on a temporary basis who does not meet the requirements, the program must request a waiver of faculty qualifications for that specific situation. The waiver request must include the reason for the request, the time frame for the request, and what steps were taken to prevent the need for the waiver.
 - a. The Board will consider the waiver request at its next regularly scheduled meeting and either approve or disapprove the request.

97-007.04 The principal responsibilities and functions of the Director and faculty are to:

1. Develop, implement, evaluate, and update the purpose, philosophy, organizational framework and program objectives/outcomes;
2. Design, implement and evaluate the curriculum using a written plan;
3. Develop, evaluate, and revise student admission, progression, retention, and graduation policies within the policies of the institution;
4. Participate in academic advising and guidance of students;

5. Provide theoretical instruction and clinical or practicum experiences;
6. Supervise the instruction provided by preceptors;
7. Assure that observational experiences comprise no more than 20% of the clinical experiences of any course;
8. Evaluate student achievement of curricular objectives/outcomes related to nursing knowledge and practice;
9. Provide for student evaluation of teaching effectiveness;
10. Provide an orientation for new faculty; and
11. Participate in activities which facilitate maintaining the faculty members' own nursing competence and professional expertise in the area of teaching responsibility and maintaining clinical competence through clinical experience, workshops, and in-service education.

97-007.05 Faculty policies and procedures must be available in writing and must include qualifications, rights and responsibilities of faculty members, the criteria for evaluation of performance, and promotion and tenure policies.

97-007.06 Written records of faculty decisions and committee reports must be maintained and available to all faculty.

97-007.07 The program must have clerical staff and other resources sufficient to meet the needs of the faculty and administration.

97-008 PRECEPTORS: The program may use preceptors in direct supervision of student learning experiences in the clinical agency where the preceptor is employed. These guidelines apply when a faculty member has delegated responsibility for direct supervision of student clinical learning experiences to a preceptor (at the preceptor's employing agency), and when the faculty member may not be physically present within the clinical agency or clinical setting.

97-008.01 Preceptor supervision is not appropriate for the beginning student. Clinical preceptors may be used to enhance clinical learning experiences, after a student has received clinical and didactic instruction in all basic areas of nursing or within a course after students have received clinical and didactic instruction in all basic areas for that course or specific learning experience.

97-008.02 While learning with the preceptor, the student role expectations must not exceed the level of practice for which the student is being prepared.

97-008.03 Direct supervision by a preceptor means that the preceptor is present in the clinical setting and available to the student at all times.

97-008.04 Preceptors may be responsible for no more than one student at a time.

97-008.05 Qualifications for a clinical preceptor include:

1. Completion of an approved registered nursing education program with a BSN preferred;
2. At least 24 months in the practice of registered nursing and either current specialty certification or demonstrated expertise in the area of practice related to the responsibilities of the appointed position;
3. Current, active, unencumbered license as a registered nurse in Nebraska or in the jurisdiction where practice occurs;
4. Competence as a clinician with an ability to apply nursing theory to practice;
5. Effective communication with clients, students, peers and other members of the health care team; and
6. Interest and ability to facilitate learning by students and staff.

97-008.06 Preceptor Orientation: The faculty must clarify with the preceptor:

1. An overview of the roles and responsibilities of preceptors, faculty and students within the course;
2. Specific preceptor responsibilities;
3. Methods of clinical evaluation of students by faculty and preceptors;
4. Goals and objectives for the clinical experience; and
5. Process of resolution of potential/actual problems.

97-008.07 The functions and responsibilities of the preceptor must be clearly delineated in a written agreement between the clinical agency, the preceptor and the nursing education program. The responsibilities of preceptors are two-fold:

1. To facilitate the student's learning within the agency by:
 - a. Assessing and suggesting learning experiences available to the student within course objectives/outcomes;
 - b. Selecting client care assignments and arranging other learning experiences within course objectives; and
 - c. Directly assisting student learning experiences when needed; and
2. To assist faculty with the evaluation of student performance in the clinical area by:
 - a. Identifying areas where the student may need additional assistance from faculty;

- b. Providing periodic feedback about the student's clinical performance; and
- c. Discussing questions and problems with faculty that may arise with the student during the preceptor experience.

97-008.08 The faculty member must retain responsibility for the student's learning experiences. The responsibilities of the faculty regarding preceptors include:

- 1. Orienting the preceptor to the overall course purposes and objectives of the nursing education program;
- 2. Clarifying any questions about the course, the level, or the curriculum;
- 3. Facilitating, monitoring and evaluating the student's learning through periodic conferences with the student and preceptor;
- 4. Assisting the student with application of core content in clinical experiences;
- 5. Serving as a resource person for the student and preceptor; and
- 6. Providing appropriate orientation materials, forms, and evaluation tools to the preceptor.

97-008.09 The responsibility for student learning rests with the faculty member, preceptor and student.

97-008.09A The faculty member primarily coordinates the learning experience of the student, provides direction for the preceptor and student, and evaluates the student's achievement of the course objectives.

97-008.09B The preceptor retains his/her nursing staff responsibility for client care while considering the individual student's capabilities in making assignments.

97-008.09C The student must be directed to accept only those responsibilities which the preceptor believes can be safely managed. Students are expected to maintain practice within the safe limits which have previously been taught. Recognizing their own strengths and limitations, students are required to request help and supervision as needed.

97-009 CURRICULUM: The program must have a curriculum that enables the student to develop the nursing knowledge, skills and competencies necessary for the level of licensure.

97-009.01 The stated philosophy and objectives/outcomes of the nursing program must be used to develop, organize, implement, and evaluate the curriculum.

2. Employing evidence-based practice to integrate best research with clinical expertise and client values for optimal care, including skills to identify and apply best practices to nursing care;
3. Providing client-centered, culturally competent care by:
 - a. Respecting client differences, values, preferences and expressed needs;
 - b. Involving clients in decision-making and care management;
 - c. Coordinating and managing continuous client care; and
 - d. Promoting healthy lifestyles for clients and populations;
4. Working in interdisciplinary teams to cooperate, collaborate, communicate, and integrate client care and health promotion; and
5. Participating in quality improvement processes to measure client outcomes, identify hazards and errors, and develop changes in processes of client care.

97-009.04 In addition, the curriculum must include:

1. Content regarding legal and ethical issues, history and trends in nursing, professional responsibilities, and scope of nursing practice;
2. Experiences which promote the development of leadership and management skills and professional socialization consistent with the level of licensure;
3. Learning experiences, methods of instruction, and evaluation of student accomplishment consistent with the written curriculum plan; and
4. Delivery of instruction by distance education methods must be consistent with the program curriculum plan and enable students to meet the goals, competencies and objectives of the educational program and standards of the Board.

97-009.05 The curriculum must provide for learning experiences that prepare the student to identify and intervene in actual or potential health problems of individuals, families, or groups, which actions are directed toward maintaining health status, preventing illness, injury, or infirmity, improving health status, and providing care supportive to or restorative of life and well-being through nursing assessment and through the execution of nursing care and of diagnostic or therapeutic regimens prescribed by any person lawfully authorized to prescribe. The curriculum must:

1. Be planned, implemented and evaluated by the faculty with provisions for student input;
2. Reflect the organizing framework and objectives of the nursing education program;
3. Be organized logically and sequenced appropriately;
4. Provide supervised clinical experience to prepare the student for the safe practice of nursing;
5. Be comprised of sufficient hours to meet these standards, be supervised by educationally and clinically qualified faculty, and ensure students' ability to practice at an entry level; and
6. In addition to clinical experience provided under direct faculty supervision, experiences may include student observation or experience supervised by adjunct faculty or preceptors.

97-009.06 Current syllabi must be available at the educational institution.

97-009.07 Programs permitting students to challenge selected courses for credit must have written policies governing the challenge procedure.

97-009.08 Nursing electives must be approved in the same manner as all other nursing courses.

97-009.09 Curriculum Revisions

97-009.09A Consultation from the Board is available when curriculum revisions are being considered. Plans for major curriculum revisions must be submitted to the Board for approval three months before they are implemented. Major curriculum changes include:

TITLE 172 PROFESSIONAL AND OCCUPATIONAL LICENSURE

CHAPTER 98 ADVANCED PRACTICE REGISTERED NURSE LICENSURE

98-001 SCOPE AND AUTHORITY: These regulations govern the licensure of advanced practice registered nurses in the State of Nebraska. Statutory authority for these regulations is in the Advanced Practice Registered Nurse Licensure Act, the Nurse Licensure Compact, and the Uniform Licensing Law.

98-002 DEFINITIONS

APRN (Advanced Practice Registered Nurse) means a registered nurse who holds a current APRN license as a Certified Nurse Midwife, Certified Registered Nurse Anesthetist, Clinical Nurse Specialist, or Nurse Practitioner.

APRN-CNM means a registered nurse who holds a current APRN license as a Certified Nurse Midwife.

APRN-CNS means a registered nurse who holds a current APRN license as a Clinical Nurse Specialist.

APRN-CRNA means a registered nurse who holds a current APRN license as a Certified Registered Nurse Anesthetist.

APRN-NP means a registered nurse who holds a current APRN license as a Nurse Practitioner.

Board means the Board of Advanced Practice Registered Nurses.

Department means the Division of Public Health in the Department of Health and Human Services.

Expired license means a license whose expiration date has passed.

Inactive license means a license which the license holder has voluntarily placed on inactive status. An individual with an inactive license has terminated the right to practice or represent himself or herself as having an active license.

Nurse Licensure Compact means the agreement among states that have enacted the standard provisions of the compact into their individual state statutes. In Nebraska, the compact is in Neb. Rev. Stat. § 71-1795. The compact allows a nurse to have one license (in his/her state of residence) and practice in other states, as long as the nurse acknowledges that s/he is subject to each state's practice laws and discipline. Practice across state lines is allowed, whether physical or electronic, unless the nurse is under discipline or a monitoring agreement that restricts practice across state lines.

98-003 SCHEDULE OF FEES

98-003.01 The following fees must be paid as a condition of issuance of licensure.

1. Initial License Fee: By an applicant for a license to practice as an APRN-CNM, APRN-CNS, APRN-CRNA, or APRN-NP, the fee of $30. If the applicant's primary state of residence is another compact state, s/he must also pay the Licensee Assistance Program fee of $1 for each year remaining in the current biennial renewal period.

a. Proration of Initial License Fee: For issuance of a license that will expire within 180 days after its initial issuance date, the Department will collect $25 and the Licensee Assistance Program fee of $1, and the license will be valid until the next subsequent renewal date.

2. License Renewal Fee: By an applicant for renewal of a license to practice as an APRN-CNM, APRN-CNS, APRN-CRNA, or APRN-NP, the fee of $30. If the applicant's primary state of residence is another compact state, s/he must also pay the Licensee Assistance Program fee of $2.

3. Fee for Reinstatement from Expired or Inactive Status: By an applicant for reinstatement from expired or inactive status of a license to practice as an APRN-CNM, APRN-CNS, APRN-CRNA, or APRN-NP, the fee of $35 in addition to the renewal fee.

4. Fee for Reinstatement Following Discipline: For reinstatement following suspension or revocation for disciplinary reasons, the fee of $75.

5. Certification of License Fee: For issuance of a certification of a license, the fee of $25. The certification includes information regarding:

- a. The basis on which the license was issued;
- b. The date of issuance;
- c. Whether disciplinary action has been taken against the license; and
- d. The current status of the license.

6. Verification of License Fee: For issuance of a verification of a license, the fee of $5. The verification includes written confirmation as to whether the license was valid at the time the request was made.

7. Duplicate License Fee: For a duplicate of an original license document or reissued license, a fee of $10.

8. Administrative Fee: For a denied license or a withdrawn application, an administrative fee of $25 will be retained by the Department.

98-004 ADMINISTRATIVE PENALTY: The Department may assess an administrative penalty when evidence exists that a person practiced without a license. Practice without a license for the purpose of this regulation means practice:

1. Prior to the issuance of a license;
2. Following the expiration of a license; or
3. Prior to the reinstatement of a license.

98-004.01 Evidence of Practice: The Department will consider any of the following conditions as prima facie evidence of practice without a license:

1. The person admits to engaging in practice;
2. Staffing records or other reports from the employer of the person indicate that the person was engaging in practice;
3. Billing or payment records document the provision of service, care, or treatment by the person;
4. Service, care, or treatment records document the provision of service, care, or treatment by the person;
5. Appointment records indicate that the person was engaged in practice; or
6. The person opens a practice site and announces or advertises that the site is open to provide service, care, or treatment.

For purposes of this regulation, prima facie evidence means a fact is presumed to be true unless disproved by some evidence to the contrary.

98-004.02 Penalty: The Department may assess an administrative penalty in the amount of $10 per day, not to exceed a total of $1,000, for practice without a license. To assess such penalty, the Department will:

1. Provide written notice of the assessment to the person. The notice will specify:
 - a. The total amount of the administrative penalty;
 - b. The evidence on which the administrative penalty is based;
 - c. That the person may request, in writing, a hearing to contest the assessment of an administrative penalty;
 - d. That the Department will within 30 days following receipt of payment of the administrative penalty, transmit the penalty to the State Treasurer for credit to the Permanent School Fund; and
 - e. That an unpaid administrative penalty constitutes a debt to the State of Nebraska which may be collected in the manner of a lien foreclosure or

TITLE 172 PROFESSIONAL AND OCCUPATIONAL LICENSURE

CHAPTER 99 PROVISION OF NURSING CARE

99-001 SCOPE AND AUTHORITY: These regulations govern the provision, administration, and management of nursing care by licensed nurses and by unlicensed persons providing auxiliary services in support of nursing service. Licensed nurses provide nursing care through a variety of roles including: a) the direct provision of care, b) the indirect provision of care through administering, managing, and supervising the practice of nursing, c) the teaching of health care practice to individuals, families, and groups, and d) collaboration and consultation with other health professionals in the management of health care. Licensed nurses provide nursing care through acute practice, long-term care practice, and community based practice. Licensed nurses are directly accountable and responsible to clients/patients for the nature and quality of all nursing care rendered.

Registered nurses (RNs) practice nursing independently and inter-dependently through the application of the nursing process; registered nurses also practice nursing dependently through the execution of diagnostic or therapeutic regimens prescribed by licensed practitioners. The administration and management of nursing by RNs is an independent and interdependent practice and includes delegating, directing, and assigning nursing interventions that may be performed by others.

Licensed practical nurses (LPNs) practice nursing dependently at the direction of registered nurses or licensed practitioners through the application of the nursing process and the execution of diagnostic or therapeutic regimens prescribed by licensed practitioners. LPN practice includes the assumption of responsibilities and accountabilities for the performance of acts within their educational background and utilizing procedures leading to predictable outcomes. The administration and management of nursing by LPNs includes directing and assigning nursing interventions that may be performed by others.

These regulations do not apply to a) persons who perform self-care; b) family, foster parents, or friends who provide home care; and c) persons performing health maintenance activities in accordance with Neb. Rev. Stat. § 71-1,132.30. These regulations also do not apply to the provision of activities of daily living and personal care by unlicensed persons when such cares do not rise to the level of requiring the application of nursing judgment or skill based upon a systematized body of nursing knowledge. These regulations do not alter the minimum requirements for nursing assistants as set forth in the Nebraska Nursing Home Act, for home health aides as set forth in Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 71-6601 to 71-6615, and for medication aides as set forth in the Medication Aide Act, Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 71-6718 to 71-6742.

99-002 DEFINITIONS: For the purposes of these regulations, the following definitions apply:

Accountability means being responsible and answerable.

1. Licensed nurse accountability means being responsible and answerable for decisions and for the action or inaction of self and/or others, and for the resultant client/patient outcomes related to decisions and action/inaction.
2. Unlicensed person accountability means being responsible and answerable for the action or inaction of self.

Act means Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 71-1,132.04 to 71-1,143.53, known as the Nurse Practice Act.

Activities of daily living (ADLs) means transfer/ambulation, exercising, toileting, feeding, and similar activities.

Assessment means a systematic evaluation of the client/patient's condition and response to the therapy.

Assignment means a licensed nurse appoints or designates another person the responsibility for performance of nursing interventions. Assignment IS NOT the transfer of authority; assignments are made to individuals who already have authority to provide nursing interventions either through licensors as a nurse or through delegation from the RN.

Assist means to give aid and support in the performance of an activity.

Authority means legal authority to provide nursing care granted through licensure as a registered nurse, licensure as a practical nurse, or through delegation from the RN.

Auxiliary patient care services means care provided by persons authorized, assigned, or directed by licensed nurses or licensed practitioners in support of that professional's practice.

1. Licensed nurse competence means the ability of the nurse to apply interpersonal, technical and decision-making skills at the level of knowledge consistent with the prevailing standard for the nurse's current nursing practice role.
2. Unlicensed person competence means the ability of the unlicensed person: 1) to utilize effective communication, 2) to collect basic objective and subjective data, 3) to perform selected non-complex nursing interventions safely, accurately, and according to standard procedures, and 4) to seek guidance and direction when appropriate.

Counseling means the process of helping a client/patient to recognize and cope with stressful psychologic or social problems, to develop improved interpersonal relationships, and to promote personal growth. Counseling includes analysis of a situation, synthesis of information and experiences, and evaluation of the progress and productivity of client(s)/patient(s).

Delegation means the transference from one individual to another individual the authority, responsibility, and accountability to perform nursing interventions.

1. Delegated by a Registered Nurse means the transference from an RN to an unlicensed person the authority, responsibility, and accountability to provide selected non-complex nursing interventions on behalf of the RN.
2. Delegation decision includes determining which nursing intervention(s) may be delegated, selecting which unlicensed person(s) may provide the delegated interventions, determining the degree of detail and method to be used to communicate the delegation plan, and selecting a method of evaluation and supervision.

Direction means the provision of guidance and supervision by a licensed nurse or licensed practitioner who is responsible to manage the provision of nursing interventions by another person.

Employer guidelines include standards of care, job descriptions/role delineations and/or organizational policies and procedures.

Examples include health maintenance activities, health promotion activities, client/patient teaching, counseling, referral, and implementation of diagnostic or therapeutic regimens of licensed practitioners.

1. Complex interventions means those which require nursing judgment to safely alter standard procedures in accordance with the needs of the patient; or require nursing judgement to determine how to proceed from one step to the next; or require the multi-dimensional application of the nursing process.
2. Non-complex interventions means those which can safely be performed according to exact directions, do not require alteration of the standard procedure, and for which the results and client/patient responses are predictable.

Nursing Care means the application of the nursing process to individuals, families, and groups which results in the performance of any act expressing judgment or skill based upon principles of the biological, physical, behavioral, and nursing sciences as defined through rules promulgated by the Board of Nursing in accordance with Neb. Rev. Stat. § 71-1,132.11.

Nursing Process means:

1. assessing human responses to actual or potential health conditions;
2. establishing nursing diagnoses;
3. establishing a plan of care for the client/patient, including goals, outcomes, and prescriptions for nursing interventions;
4. implementing the plan of care through the direct and indirect provision of nursing interventions; and
5. evaluating client/patient responses to the plan of care and nursing interventions, and making adjustments to the plan of care based upon such evaluation.

Nursing service delivery model means a framework selected by an organization which describes the method by which nursing services are provided and includes employer guidelines as defined in 172 NAC 99-002.

Stable and/or Predictable means a situation where the client/patient's clinical and behavioral status and nursing care needs are determined by the RN and/or licensed practitioner to be non-fluctuating and consistent or where the fluctuations are expected and the interventions are planned, including those clients/patients whose deteriorating condition is expected.

Supervision means the provision of oversight and includes maintaining accountability to determine whether or not nursing care is adequate and delivered appropriately. Supervision includes the assessment and evaluation of client/patient condition and responses to the nursing plan of care, and evaluation of the competence of persons providing nursing care.

1. Conditions of supervision means the method of supervision (direct or indirect), the identification of the persons to be supervised as well as the nursing interventions being provided, and the stability and/or predictability of the client/patient(s)' condition.
2. Direct supervision means that the responsible licensed nurse or licensed practitioner is physically present in the clinical area, and is available to assess, evaluate and respond immediately. Direct supervision DOES NOT mean that the responsible licensed nurse or licensed practitioner must be in the same room, or "looking-over-the-shoulder" of the persons providing nursing care.

99-004 STANDARDS FOR DELEGATION

99-004.01 Delegation of Nursing Interventions. Full utilization of licensed nurses may require auxiliary patient care services provided by persons carrying out interventions for the support of nursing services as delegated by RNs. The scope of delegation may vary depending on the level of nursing judgement required for the interventions, the knowledge and skills of the unlicensed person, the method and frequency of supervision, and the client/patient's condition, ability, and willingness to be involved in the management of his/her own care.

99-004.01A Premises of delegation.

99-004.01A1 Only licensed nurses are legally authorized to practice nursing as defined in the Act.

99-004.01A2 Only RNs licensed in accordance with the Act may delegate nursing interventions to be performed by others on behalf of the nurse. Such delegation must be in a manner that does not conflict with the Act or these regulations.

99-004.01A3 RNs retain accountability for the application of nursing process when making the decision to delegate nursing interventions, and for the adequacy of client/patient care and outcomes related to the delegation decision.

99-004.01A4 Nursing is a process discipline based upon a systematized body of nursing knowledge and cannot be reduced to a list of tasks. Individual tasks or activities labeled as nursing provided in isolation by unlicensed persons functioning independently of the nurse is unlawful and constitutes the practice of nursing without a license.

99-004.01A5 Many nurses are employees of organizations. Within organizational hierarchy, the transference of organizational responsibility and accountability occurs within the decision making framework defined by the institution. Such a framework is a managerial division of responsibilities, and may include a nursing service delivery model and employer guidelines. The standards applied at the organizational level must meet or exceed the standards for delegation as defined within these regulations.

99-004.01A6 Although unlicensed persons may be used to complement licensed nurses in the provision of nursing care, such persons cannot be used as a substitute for the licensed nurse.

99-004.01B Standards for Delegation.

99-004.01B1 RNs must use a systematic delegation decision making process based upon nursing education, a body of nursing knowledge, and nursing judgement to delegate in a manner that allows for safe, accountable, and responsible provision of nursing care.

99-004.01B2 RNs must match the level of judgement required for the selected interventions with the experience and competency of the unlicensed person(s) and with the level of supervision available.

99-004.01B3 The detail and method of communication must be congruent with the level of nursing judgement required for the delegated nursing intervention and the experience and competency of the unlicensed person and the frequency and method of supervision.

99-004.01B4 Nursing service administrators may select nursing service delivery models and develop employer guidelines for the provision of nursing care that do not conflict with the Act or these regulations. Nursing service administrators are accountable to provide adequate resources to carry out the delegation plan.

99-004.01B5 Staff RNs may utilize employer guidelines in the delegation decision making process but retain accountability for individual delegation decisions, the delegation plan, and evaluation of delegation outcomes.

99-004.01C Delegation Process. RNs must utilize a decision making process to delegate in a manner that protects public health, welfare, and safety. Such a process must include:

1. Assessing client/patient(s) and resources.
 - a. Nursing service administrators must assess the health status of group(s) of client/patients, analyze the data and identify collective nursing care needs, priorities, and necessary resources.
 - b. Staff RNs must assess client/patients individual health status, analyze the data, and identify the client/patient's specific goals, nursing care needs and necessary interventions.
2. Developing a delegation plan. The delegation plan must include:
 - a. Selecting and identifying nursing interventions which may be delegated.
 - (1) Selected interventions must be those:
 - (a) which frequently recurs in the daily care of a client/patient or group of clients/patients,
 - (b) which do not require the unlicensed person to exercise independent nursing judgment,
 - (c) which do not require complex and/or multi-dimensional application of the nursing process,
 - (d) for which the results of the intervention are predictable and the potential risk is minimal, and

- (e) which utilize a standard and unchanging procedure.
- (2) Interventions which must not be delegated include, but are not limited to:
 - (a) activities including data collection, problem identification, and outcome evaluation which require independent nursing judgement;
 - (b) teaching except for that related to promoting independence in personal care and activities of daily living;
 - (c) counseling, except that unlicensed persons may be instructed to recognize and report basic deviations from healthy behavior and communication patterns, and may provide listening, empathy, and support.
 - (d) coordination and management of care including collaborating, consulting, and referring;
 - (e) triage and/or the giving of advice; and
 - (f) treatments which are complex interventions as defined in 172 NAC 99-002.
- (3) RNs must identify the selected nursing interventions.
 - a) Nursing service administrators must identify selected interventions through an organizational description of a nursing service delivery model and employer guidelines.
 - (b) Staff RNs must identify selected interventions on an individual basis.
- (4) If an RN delegates medication provision, such delegation must be done in accordance with the Medication Aide Act, Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 71-6718 to 71-6742.
- b. Selecting and identifying unlicensed persons providing auxiliary patient care services in support of nursing and to whom nursing interventions may be delegated.
 - (1) RNs must assess and identify the unlicensed person(s) education/training, experience, and competency to provide selected nursing interventions .
 - (2) Nursing service administrators must establish organizational standards which identify educational and training requirements, and competency measurements of unlicensed persons. Nursing service administrators must identify unlicensed persons by a position title and role delineation/job description.

- (3) Staff RNs must instruct and/or assess, verify, and identify the unlicensed person's competency on an individual and client/patient specific basis.
- c. Selecting and identifying the methods of supervision and the licensed health care professionals responsible to provide supervision.
- (1) The method of supervision and the frequency of assessment, inspection, and evaluation must be determined by RNs after an evaluation of the involved factors including, but not limited to the following:
 - (a) the willingness and ability of the client/patient to be involved in the management of his/her own care;
 - (b) the stability of the client/patients condition;
 - (c) the experience and competency of the unlicensed person(s) providing nursing interventions; and
 - (d) the level of nursing judgement required for the delegated nursing interventions.
 - (2) Nursing service administrators must establish organizational standards and employer guidelines which provide for sufficient supervision to assure that the nursing care is adequate and meets the needs of the client/patients. Nursing service administrators must identify the licensed health care professionals responsible to provide supervision by a position title and role delineation/job description.
 - (3) Staff RNs must determine the method of supervision on an individual basis and identify any other licensed nurses who have been assigned the responsibility for supervision.
- d. Communicating the delegation plan.
- (1) Nursing service administrators must communicate the delegation plan to licensed nurses responsible to provide supervision and to unlicensed persons(s) responsible to provide nursing interventions through description of a nursing service delivery model and employer guidelines.
 - (2) Staff RNs must communicate decisions regarding selected interventions and the conditions of supervision to licensed nurses responsible to provide supervision and to unlicensed person(s) responsible to provide nursing interventions as appropriate and on an individual basis.

(a) Communication of selected interventions to unlicensed persons must be in accordance with 172 NAC 99-005.02 item 3.

3. Implementing the delegation plan by providing direction and supervision.

a. Direction must include:

- (1) initial instruction related to the delegated intervention(s);
- (2) monitoring to assure that the delegated nursing intervention(s) have been provided; and
- (3) evaluating client/patient responses and delegated nursing interventions.

b. Supervision:

- (1) may be provided by the delegating RN, by other licensed health care professionals identified in the delegation plan in accordance with 172 NAC 99-004.01C item 2.c., and/or by licensed nurses directing unlicensed persons in accordance with 172 NAC 99-005.02.
- (2) must include direct supervision, indirect supervision, or a combination of both methods.
 - (a) RNs may utilize both direct and indirect methods of supervision. When indirect supervision methods are utilized, RNs must be available through telecommunication.
 - (b) LPNs may only utilize direct methods of supervision.

4. Evaluating the delegation plan by:

- a. obtaining feedback from unlicensed persons;
- b. providing feedback to unlicensed persons;
- c. measuring client/patient response and goal attainment related to the delegated interventions; and
- d. altering the delegation plan as indicated by client/patient response.

99-005 STANDARDS FOR DIRECTION: In the administration and management of nursing care, RNs, LPNs, and licensed practitioners provide direction. RNs and licensed practitioners provide direction to LPNs; RNs and LPNs provide direction to unlicensed persons providing auxiliary patient care services. The method and degree of direction may vary based upon client/patient condition, the interventions to be applied, and the qualifications and competency of the person providing the interventions.

99-005.01 Standards for LPNs to receive direction from RNs and licensed practitioners.

99-005.01A For valid direction to occur:

1. direction must be in a manner that sufficiently instructs and guides LPNs to assure that the nursing care provided is adequate to meet the client/patient needs;
2. direction may include identification of any specific assessment data to be collected relative to client/patient condition, client/patient diagnosis, and/or presenting signs and symptoms of the client/patient;
3. direction may include identification of the specific interventions to be applied based upon the collected assessment data and/or client/patient response to interventions; and
4. direction must include the provision of supervision to LPNs. Supervision may include direct, indirect, or a combination of direct and indirect methods.

99-005.01B LPNs must:

1. practice nursing only under circumstances in which direction is provided by a RN or licensed practitioner;
2. exercise competence in providing and directing nursing interventions;
3. initiate consultation/collaboration according to observed signs and symptoms of deviations from normal health status, and/or according to the directions specified by the RN or licensed practitioner; and
4. provide nursing interventions according to the direction and instructions identified by the RN or licensed practitioner.

99-005.01C Methods and circumstances by which LPNs may receive direction from RNs and licensed practitioners must be similar to the following:

1. Indirect supervision provided through protocols.
 - a. Acceptable circumstances are when client/patient conditions are stable and/or predictable, or when the client/patient is competent to make - informed decisions and provide necessary information relative to the interventions.

- b. Standards for protocols must include the following. Protocols must:
 - (1) be written;
 - (2) identify any specific assessment data in accordance with 172 NAC 99-005.01A items 1 and 2; and
 - (3) identify interventions which maybe provided. Interventions may include (1) monitoring client/patient condition by the LPN, (2) the direct provision of nursing interventions by the LPN, (3) referral to another licensed health care provider for service, and/or (4) consultation with a RN or licensed practitioner for specific direction.
 - c. When protocols are used, indirect supervision by the RN or licensed practitioner must include:
 - (1) evaluation by the RN or licensed practitioner to determine the adequacy of the protocols to serve the intended purpose; and
 - (2) availability of the RN or licensed practitioner, or an appropriate substitute, to the LPN by telecommunication for consultation and collaboration. By way of example, an appropriate substitute may be a licensed practitioner in an emergency room, the client/patient's primary health care provider, or another specifically designated RN.
2. Indirect supervision provided through periodic inspection and evaluation in combination with nursing and medical plans of care and, when appropriate, employer guidelines.
- a. Acceptable circumstances are when client/patient condition is stable and/or predictable but the client/patient may or may not be competent to make an informed decision, and may or may not be capable of providing information relative to interventions.
 - (1) An exception to the requirement for the client/patient condition to be stable and/or predictable may be when the client is competent to make informed decisions and provide necessary information relative to the interventions.
 - b. Standards for nursing and medical plans of care and, when appropriate, employer guidelines must include the following. Plan(s) of care and/or employer guidelines must:
 - (1) be written, and may be augmented by verbal direction and feedback from the RN or licensed practitioner,

- (2) identify any specific assessment data in accordance with 172 NAC 99-005.01A items 1 and 2.
 - (3) identify appropriate interventions. Interventions may include (1) all of the interventions listed above in 172 NAC 99-005.01C item 1.b.(3), and (2) the indirect provision of non-complex interventions through direction and assignment of auxiliary patient care services by the LPN to unlicensed persons in accordance with 172 NAC 99-005.02 and 172 NAC 99-006.03.
 - (c) When nursing and medical plans of care and, when appropriate, employer guidelines are used, indirect supervision by the RN or licensed practitioner must include:
 - (1) periodic inspection and evaluation, the frequency of which must be determined by the RN or licensed practitioner. Factors to be considered include the competency of the LPN and the stability of the client/patient condition(s); and
 - (2) availability of the RN or licensed practitioner, or an appropriate substitute, to the LPN by telecommunication for consultation and collaboration.
3. Direct supervision in combination with nursing and medical plans of care and, when appropriate, employer guidelines.
 - a. Appropriate circumstances for direct supervision are when client/patient conditions and responses to interventions are not stable and/or predictable, and when client/patient(s) are not competent to make informed decisions or provide necessary information thereby requiring frequent assessment by the RN or licensed practitioner.
 - b. Standards for plans of care and employer guidelines must include the following. Plans of care and employer guidelines must:
 - (1) be written, and may be augmented by verbal direction and feedback from the RN or licensed practitioner,
 - (2) identify specific assessment data to be collected for a specific client/patient, and
 - (3) identify interventions which are to be directly provided by the LPN for a specific client/patient. Client/patient specific instruction must be included when appropriate.
 - c. When warranted by the circumstances described 172 NAC 99-005.01C items 3.a., direct supervision by the RN or licensed practitioner must include frequent evaluation of client/patient condition and response to the nursing plan of care.

99-005.02 Licensed nurses direct the provision of auxiliary patient care services provided by unlicensed persons in support of nursing services. The degree of direction is dependent upon the competency of the unlicensed provider, the nature of the nursing interventions, and the condition of the client/patient.

99-005.02A Standards for licensed nurses to provide direction to unlicensed persons:

1. Licensed nurses must direct unlicensed persons in the provision of nursing interventions only if such unlicensed persons have received authority to provide nursing interventions through delegation from an RN in accordance with the provisions of 172 NAC 99-004.01.
2. Licensed nurses must be knowledgeable of the delegation plan and the conditions of supervision. Licensed nurses must obtain knowledge of the delegation plan through the organizational nursing service delivery model and employer guidelines, and as may be augmented by the delegating RN.
3. Licensed nurses must communicate to the unlicensed person the conditions of any assignment for which the licensed nurse is responsible to provide direction. Communication may be either written and/or oral and may include as appropriate:
 - a. the specific observations to be monitored, and the expected method of communication to report such observations;
 - b. the specific interventions to be applied, and any client/patient specific instructions and/or limitations;
 - c. the expected results of nursing interventions; and
 - d. the unexpected results or potential complications of nursing interventions, including the method and time lines for communicating such to the licensed nurse
4. RNs may provide direction to unlicensed persons through both direct or indirect supervision.
5. LPNs must provide direction to unlicensed persons only through direct supervision.
6. Licensed nurses must monitor and evaluate the nursing care provided by unlicensed personnel to assure that care is adequate and meets the needs of the client/patient, and
7. Licensed nurses must evaluate the competence of the unlicensed persons providing nursing interventions relative to specific assignments.

99-006 STANDARDS FOR ASSIGNMENT: In the administration and management of nursing care, licensed nurses may assign the responsibility for performance of nursing interventions to other persons. Assignments of nursing interventions are made by licensed nurses to others who are authorized to provide nursing care through licensure as a registered nurse, licensure as a practical nurse, or through delegation from a registered nurse to an unlicensed person.

99-006.01 Standards for assignments by licensed nurse to other licensed nurses.

99-006.01A RNs and LPNs must:

1. assign only those nursing interventions authorized by the level of nursing for which the nurse receiving the assignment is licensed, and
2. assign only those nursing interventions for which the nurse making the assignments has reason to believe the nurse receiving the assignment is competent to provide.
 - a. The nursing service administrator is responsible to assess and evaluate to determine that licensed nurses have the required competencies expected for the nurse's nursing practice role.
 - b. The nurse making assignments is responsible to assess the competence of the nurse accepting the assignment to fulfill the specific patient care assignment.

99-006.01B RNs may assign the responsibility of supervision within the delegation plan to other licensed nurses only if the conditions of the supervision as defined in 172 NAC 99-002 have been communicated.

99-006.02 Standards for licensed nurses accepting assignments.

99-006.02A RNs and LPNs must:

1. accept only those assignments authorized by the level of nursing for which the nurse receiving the assignment is licensed,

4. give sufficient notice of intent to refuse an assignment so as to allow the nurse making the assignment to make alternative arrangements for the assignment.

99-006.02B LPNs may accept assignments only when direction by a licensed practitioner or RN is provided in accordance with 172 NAC 99-005.

99-006.03 Standards for assignments by licensed nurses to unlicensed persons. RNs and LPNs must:

1. make assignments only to those unlicensed persons authorized through delegation from the RN in accordance with 172 NAC 99-004.01, and
2. determine assignments within the framework of the delegation plan as described in 172 NAC 99-004.01C item 2. RNs and LPNs may limit assignment(s) according to competency of the unlicensed person and the current nursing care needs of the client/patient condition.

99-007 APPROPRIATE ROLE OF THE LPN IN INTRAVENOUS THERAPY: This section is intended to define appropriate nursing interventions, based on the LPN's knowledge and skills acquired in an approved practical nursing educational program, which the LPN may accept as a directed activity related to intravenous therapy. The interventions must be within the scope of practice of the licensed practitioner or registered nurse directing the activity.

99-007.01 Acceptance of directed activities related to intravenous therapy. A LPN may accept responsibility for provision of the following interventions:

Acceptable intravenous solutions are limited to those fluids that are generally used as maintenance and isotonic in nature; and
8. Changing of intravenous tubing for peripheral lines only.

99-007.02 Activities related to intravenous therapy which a licensed practical nurse MAY NOT accept as directed activities include but are not limited to:

Rev. Stat. § 71-1,132.05. These opinions are informational only and are nonbinding. These opinions may be given in response to requests from nurses, employers, institutions, consumers and any other interested persons. This section is intended to define the process by which person(s) may request advisory opinions, and by which the Board may issue advisory opinions.

101-008.01 Process for Requesting Advisory Opinions from the Board of Nursing

In formulating a recommendation, the Committee and/or Board will, as appropriate: consult with and obtain input from the nursing population via individuals and agencies, organizations, associations, regulatory bodies, and professional organizations representing health care professionals and institutions; and review literature and research to determine state, regional, and national trends.

101-008.02D Communication of opinions will be accomplished by a letter of response to the person(s) requesting an advisory opinion, and by publication in the Nursing News, the official newsletter of the Nebraska Board of Nursing. The nursing practice consultant will maintain a file of advisory opinions in the office of the Professional and Occupational Credentialing Division.

CHAPTER 102 PRACTICE OF LICENSED PRACTICAL NURSES - CERTIFIED

102-001 SCOPE AND AUTHORITY

102-001.01 These regulations govern the participation of licensed practical nurses certified in the administration of intravenous therapy, a complex activity that includes, but is not limited to, observing, initiating, monitoring, discontinuing, maintaining, regulating, adjusting, documenting, assessing, planning, intervening and evaluating. Within nursing, the administration of intravenous therapy is the responsibility of the registered nurse as prescribed by the licensed practitioner. A licensed practical nurse-certified may perform limited intravenous therapy interventions under the direction of a registered nurse or licensed practitioner. A licensed practical nurse-certified may be used to complement the registered nurse's role or licensed practitioner role in the administration of intravenous therapy, but cannot be used as a substitute for the registered nurse or licensed practitioner. An LPN-C may only provide intravenous interventions when there is a licensed practitioner or registered nurse assessing the client at least once every 24 hours, or more frequently when a significant change in therapy or client condition has occurred.

102-001.02 These regulations are authorized by and implement Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 71-147 to 148, 71-150 to 71-162.05, 71-164.01, 71-172.02, 71-1,132.20, and 71-1772 to 71-1794.

Approved certification course means a course which the Board has approved for the education and training of a licensed practical nurse-certified.

Approved medications means those medications for which nursing interventions are routine and predictable in nature related to individual responses and adverse reactions.

Approved methods of administration means intravenous administration both by piggyback and push methods through intermittent access and continuous flow peripheral lines and through continuous flow central lines.

Attest/Attestation means that the individual declares that all statements on the application/petition are true and complete.

104-007.05F If the petitioner formally requests a formal public hearing or if the Boards otherwise hold such a hearing, the petitioner will be given at least 30 days prior notice by sending to the petitioner a copy of the notice of hearing by certified or registered mail at his/her last known residence or business post office address as shown by the files or records of the Department or as otherwise known. Notice may be given to the petitioner by personal service. The hearing will be conducted pursuant to 172 NAC 1.

The Director's decision will be based upon a review of the record of the proceedings before the Boards. The Director will not hold a second hearing. The Director may affirm, reverse or modify the Boards' recommendation. A decision by the Director to reverse or modify the Boards' recommendation will be based on finding that the Boards' recommendation is: in excess of statutory authority, made upon unlawful procedure, unsupported by competent, material, and substantial evidence in view of the entire record, or arbitrary or capricious.
 - a. When the Director affirms, modifies or reverses the Boards' recommendation for reinstatement, the Director will enter an order setting forth the decision regarding reinstatement of the petitioner's credential. The order will be sent by certified mail to the petitioner.

The Director's decision will be based upon a review of the record of the proceedings before the Boards. The Director will not hold a second hearing. The Director may affirm, reverse or modify the Boards' recommendation. A decision by the Director to reverse or modify the Boards' recommendation will be based on finding that the Boards' recommendation is: in excess of statutory authority, made upon unlawful procedure, unsupported by competent, material, and substantial evidence in view of the entire record, or arbitrary or capricious.
 - a. When the Director affirms, modifies or reverses the Boards' recommendation for reinstatement, the Director will enter an order setting forth the decision regarding reinstatement of the petitioner's credential. The order will be sent by certified mail to the petitioner.
 - b. If the petitioner does not accept the Director's decision, s/he may appeal such decision to the District Court of Lancaster County pursuant to Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 84-901 to 84-920.

105-001 SCOPE AND AUTHORITY: These regulations implement Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 71-6038 to 71-6042, and identify the circumstances and conditions under which paid dining assistants may feed residents in nursing homes.

105-002 DEFINITIONS

Complicated feeding problems include, but are not limited to –

1. Difficulty swallowing;
2. Recurrent lung aspirations; and
3. Tube or parenteral or intravenous feedings.

Curriculum means a detailed outline of the course content including specific content areas.

Department means the Department of Health and Human Services Regulation and Licensure.

Immediately available means that the registered or licensed practical nurse is available to respond at any time in person or by electronic communication, including but not limited to pagers, intercom or call light systems, telephone and cell phones. This DOES NOT mean that the registered or licensed practical nurse must be in the same room, or “looking over the shoulder” of the paid dining assistant.

Nursing assistant means any person employed by a nursing home for the purpose of aiding a licensed registered or practical nurse through the performance of nonspecialized tasks related to the personal care and comfort of residents other than a paid dining assistant or a licensed registered or practical nurse.

Nursing home means any facility or a distinct part of any facility that provides care as defined in Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 71-420, 71-421, 71-422, 71-424, and 71-429. This includes intermediate care facilities, intermediate care facilities for persons with mental retardation, long-term care hospitals, nursing facilities, and skilled nursing facilities.

Paid dining assistant means any person employed by a nursing home for the purpose of aiding a licensed registered or practical nurse through the feeding of residents other than a nursing assistant or a licensed registered or practical nurse.

Supervision means the provision of oversight to a paid dining assistant by a registered or licensed practical nurse who is on duty, physically present in the nursing home, and immediately available.

Supervisor means any person employed by the nursing home in a supervisory nursing capacity and who would be available for the paid dining assistant to notify in an emergency situation related to feeding residents.

105-003 QUALIFICATIONS OF PAID DINING ASSISTANTS: A person may act as a paid dining assistant in a nursing home only if s/he:

3. Has successfully completed at least eight hours of training as prescribed by the Department for paid dining assistants;
4. Has no adverse findings on the Nurse Aide Registry or the Adult Protective Services Central Registry; and
5. Has no adverse findings on the central register of child protection cases maintained by the Department of Health and Human Services if the nursing home which employs the person as a paid dining assistant has at any one time more than one resident under the age of 19 years.

105-004 ROLE OF THE PAID DINING ASSISTANT: Paid dining assistants are single-task workers who:

1. Only feed residents who have no complicated feeding problems as selected by the nursing home based on the resident's latest assessment, plan of care, and determinations by the charge nurse that the resident's condition at the time of such feeding meets that plan of care and that the paid dining assistant is competent to feed that particular resident;
2. Work under the supervision of a licensed registered or practical nurse who is on duty, physically present in the nursing home, and immediately available; and
3. Must call a supervisor for help in an emergency.

Paid dining assistants must not perform nursing or nursing-related services. Paid dining assistants are only to supplement and not to substitute for licensed registered or practical nurses or nursing assistants.

The compact allows a nurse to have one license (in his/her state of residence) and practice in other states, as long as the nurse acknowledges that s/he is subject to each state's practice laws and discipline. 114-008 SUPERVISION OF AIDES IN OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY: An aide, as used in occupational therapy practice, is an individual who provides supportive services to the occupational therapist and the occupational therapy assistant. Aides are not primary service providers of occupational therapy in any practice setting. Aides do not provide skilled occupational therapy services. An aide is trained by an occupational therapist or an occupational therapy assistant to perform specifically delegated tasks. The occupational therapist is responsible for the overall use and actions of the aide. An aide first must demonstrate competency to be able to perform the assigned, delegated client and non-client-related tasks.

1. The occupational therapist must oversee the development, documentation, and implementation of a plan to supervise and routinely assess the ability of the occupational therapy aide to carry out client and non-client-related tasks. The occupational therapy assistant may contribute to the development and documentation of this plan.
2. The occupational therapy assistant may supervise the aide.
3. Non-client-related tasks include clerical and maintenance activities and preparation of the work area or equipment.
4. Client-related tasks are routine tasks during which the aide may interact with the client but does not act as a primary service provider of occupational therapy services. Onsite supervision of an aide is required by an occupational therapist or an occupational therapy assistant when an aide is performing all client-related tasks. Onsite supervision of an aide means that the occupational therapist or occupational therapy assistant must be physically present at the practice site to direct all actions when occupational therapy services are being provided.

114-008A The following factors must be present when an occupational therapist or occupational therapy assistant delegates a selected client-related task to the aide:

3. The aide has demonstrated some previous performance ability in executing the task; and
4. The task routine and process have been clearly established.

114-008B When performing delegated client-related tasks, the supervisor must ensure that the aide:

1. Is trained and able to demonstrate competency in carrying out the selected task and using equipment, if appropriate;
2. Has been instructed on how to specifically carry out the delegated task with the specific client; and
3. Knows the precautions, signs, and symptoms for the particular client that would indicate the need to seek assistance from the occupational therapist or occupational therapy assistant.

114.008C The supervision of the aide must be documented and include:

1. Information about frequency and methods of supervision used;
2. The content of the supervision; and
3. The names and credential of all persons participating in the supervisory process.

114.008D An occupational therapy aide may not perform evaluation, reevaluation, treatment planning or establish treatment goals.

Code of Ethics for Pharmacists

PREAMBLE

Pharmacists are health professionals who assist individuals in making the best use of medications. This Code, prepared and supported by pharmacists, is intended to state publicly the principles that form the fundamental basis of the roles and responsibilities of pharmacists. These principles, based on moral obligations and virtues, are established to guide pharmacists in relationships with patients, health professionals, and society.

I. A pharmacist respects the covenantal relationship between the patient and pharmacist.

Considering the patient-pharmacist relationship as a covenant means that a pharmacist has moral obligations in response to the gift of trust received from society. In return for this gift, a pharmacist promises to help individuals achieve optimum benefit from their medications, to be committed to their welfare, and to maintain their trust.

II. A pharmacist promotes the good of every patient in a caring, compassionate, and confidential manner.

A pharmacist places concern for the well-being of the patient at the center of professional practice. In doing so, a pharmacist considers needs stated by the patient as well as those defined by health science. A pharmacist is dedicated to protecting the dignity of the patient. With a caring attitude and a compassionate spirit, a pharmacist focuses on serving the patient in a private and confidential manner.

III. A pharmacist respects the autonomy and dignity of each patient.

A pharmacist promotes the right of self-determination and recognizes individual self-worth by encouraging patients to participate in decisions about their health. A pharmacist communicates with patients in terms that are understandable. In all cases, a pharmacist respects personal and cultural differences among patients.

IV. A pharmacist acts with honesty and integrity in professional relationships.

A pharmacist has a duty to tell the truth and to act with conviction of conscience. A pharmacist avoids discriminatory practices, behavior or work conditions that impair professional judgment, and actions that compromise dedication to the best interests of patients.

V. A pharmacist maintains professional competence.

A pharmacist has a duty to maintain knowledge and abilities as new medications, devices, and technologies become available and as health information advances.

VI. A pharmacist respects the values and abilities of colleagues and other health professionals.

When appropriate, a pharmacist asks for the consultation of colleagues or other health professionals or refers the patient. A pharmacist acknowledges that colleagues and other health professionals may differ in the beliefs and values they apply to the care of the patient.

VII. A pharmacist serves individual, community, and societal needs.

The primary obligation of a pharmacist is to individual patients. However, the obligations of a pharmacist may at times extend beyond the individual to the community and society. In these situations, the pharmacist recognizes the responsibilities that accompany these obligations and acts accordingly.

VIII. A pharmacist seeks justice in the distribution of health resources.

When health resources are allocated, a pharmacist is fair and equitable, balancing the needs of patients and society.

180-008.04B2 An application for approval of continuing competency activities may be approved or denied. Should an application for a continuing competency activity be denied, the applicant will be sent a notice setting forth the reasons for the determination to the last address of record in the Department.

180-008.04B2a Denial of an application will become final 15 days after the mailing of the notice unless the provider, within such 15 day period, will give written notice to the Department of a desire for hearing. 180-008.05 Waiver of Continuing Competency: The Department, on the recommendation of the Board, may waive the continuing competency requirements, in whole or in part, for any renewal period or for the period of time when a licensee submits documentation that circumstances beyond his/her control prevented the completion of the requirements.

180-008.05A The circumstances include situations in which the licensee:

1. Holds a Nebraska license but is not practicing veterinary medicine and surgery or as a veterinary technician in Nebraska; or

2. Has been in the service of the regular armed forces of the United States during any part of the 24 months immediately preceding the license renewal date; or

 - c. If the licensee has suffered from a serious or disabling illness or physical disability which prevented completion of the required number of hours of continuing competency during the 24 months immediately preceding the license renewal date, s/he must indicate this waiver option and submit a statement from a treating physician(s) stating that the licensee was injured or ill, the duration of the illness or injury and of the recovery period, and that the licensee was unable to attend continuing competency activities during that period.

- d. If the licensee was first licensed within the 24 months immediately preceding the license renewal date, s/he must indicate this waiver option and list the date the license was issued.

180-008.05C The Department, on recommendation of the Board, may grant or deny, in part or in total, an application for waiver of continuing competency requirements, upon proof that circumstances beyond the applicant's control prevented completion of the requirements.

180-008.05C1 When the Department determines to deny an application for waiver of continuing competency requirements, it will send to the applicant by United States mail to the last name and address of record in the Department, a notice setting forth the reason for the denial determination.

180-008.06A The Department will send to each licensee selected for audit a notice of audit.

180-008.06B When selected for audit, the licensee must provide satisfactory documentation of meeting the continuing competency requirement for the renewal period.
