

An Employment First sanction has been requested but has yet to be imposed. The participant reports employment following the request for sanction. If we verify the job will make them self-sufficient, should we impose the EF sanction?

It all has to do with the sequence of events. If the sanction is requested, and *approved by the supervisor or administrator, and then s/he reports employment, the sanction should be imposed. Depending on the length of the sanction, the employment could serve as the minimum participation requirement to then lift the sanction at the end of the penalty period.

*Please see 468 NAC 2-020.09B Action Following Nonparticipation

02/12/2008