- Results in substantial functional limitations in three or more of the following areas of major life activity: (a) self-care; (b) receptive and expressive language; (c) learning; (d) mobility; (e) self-direction; (f) capacity for independent living; and (g) economic self-sufficiency;
- Reflects the individual's need for a combination and sequence of special, interdisciplinary, or generic services, individualized supports, or other forms of assistance that are of lifelong or extended duration and are individually planned and coordinated;
- An individual from birth to age 9, inclusive, who has a substantial developmental delay or specific congenital or acquired condition, may be considered to have a developmental disability without meeting three or more functional limitations in major life activities, if the individual, without services and supports has a high probability of meeting those criteria later in life.

PROJECT DESCRIPTION

Goal: To support increased communication and personal relationships between children and adults with and without developmental disabilities in order to increase inclusion.

Focus: The focus of this project should be actions that result in the inclusion of people with developmental disabilities in regular community events or activities.

Intent:

- Community activities do NOT include separate or “special” activities that are developed for people with disabilities.
- Project outcome must include the number of people that would be included.
- Funds cannot be used to develop a curriculum or training but may replicate a previously developed community model.
- Special consideration will be given to projects targeting racial or ethnic minority communities.
