

Acknowledgement

We would like to thank all members of the Nebraska Injury Surveillance and Prevention Work Team for their dedication and commitment to this project. This is truly a product of team effort, demonstrating collaboration between various programs within the DHHS. Epidemiologists, data analysts, and program coordinators worked together to accomplish this report. Xiaojuan Mi was vital in its development; she was responsible for analyzing and interpreting the data. Lei Zhang and Ying Zhang played a key role in the compilation of this report. We extend a special thank you to Ming Qu for coordinating this project, beginning to end, and for his leadership throughout the entire project. His expertise and contributions ensured the completion of this report.

We would also like to thank the following Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services staff for substantial support and contribution to the report: Jihyun Ma, CODES Data Analyst, Jude Eberhardt, Epidemiology Surveillance Coordinator, Colleen Svoboda, Program Coordinator, and Grey Borden, Bioterrorism Surveillance Coordinator, for reviewing and editing portions of this report, and Karis Bowen, GIS Specialist, for producing the GIS maps and designing the cover page.

We thank Marla Augustine, DHHS Public Information Officer, for reviewing the final report.

In addition, we would like to extend our thanks to the Nebraska Office of Highway Safety for supporting us, as well as the Nebraska Injury Prevention Program and SAFE KIDS Program for providing partial financial support.
