Health Disparities in the Heartland: A Review of Data

The Heartland Regional Health Equity Council (Heartland RHEC) is hosting an online learning session regarding the health status of the heartland. This session will provide participants with a snapshot of health-related issues covered in the Urban League of Greater Kansas City's recently published State of Black Kansas City, and will also offer an opportunity to learn more about a health disparities report that will be published by the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services Office of Health Disparities and Health equity in summer 2015. This webinar will provide an overview of findings, implications and information from both reports as well as a review of the progress that has been made towards Healthy People 2020 objectives.

Heartland RHEC is one of ten regional health equity councils formed in 2011 as a part of the National Partnership for Action to End Health Disparities (NPA), a national movement with the mission to improve the effectiveness of programs that target the elimination of health disparities through coordination of leaders, partners, and stakeholders that are committed to action. The Heartland RHEC is a coalition of leaders and health disparities experts in Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, and Missouri. The Heartland RHEC envisions a region free of disparities in health and healthcare.
