

Emerging and Effective Practices DSHPSHWA Meeting, Feb. 24, 2008

Learning from each other and sharing has always been an exciting aspect of the EHDI network. As part of the DSHPSHWA meeting, we will have an opportunity to continue to share and learn....

What's happening in your EHDI program? What's an approach that you've been using that is creating good outcomes for your program? What's a new approach that you're beginning to implement that promises good outcomes?

Tomorrow you'll have a chance to share your effective and emerging practices with your EHDI colleagues during 20-30 minute mini-sessions. Using a modification of "open space" meeting management, those who would like to share an approach will host an informal sharing session with those who would like to learn about that particular practice.

It's easy to host the discussion...simply complete the information below and tomorrow afternoon you'll get the chance to discuss it with a small group who want to learn about it. Very engaging and informal!

To share a practice....

Briefly (one sentence) describe the approach or activity -

Emerging practice

Effective practice
