

Did You KNOW?

Both moms and dads play an important role in protecting their baby from syphilis.

Congenital syphilis is when a mother has syphilis and passes the infection to her baby during pregnancy, which can cause serious complications that are preventable.

HOW TO PREVENT CONGENITAL SYPHILIS

1

Have an open and honest conversation with your healthcare provider about risk

2

If you test positive, there is treatment available that will cure syphilis.

3

Reduce your risk of getting syphilis before and during pregnancy by talking with your healthcare provider about safe prevention measures.