Veterans Justice Programs (VJP): Mission & Vision

Presenter
Video Box

Mission

- To identify justice-involved Veterans and contact them through outreach to facilitate access to VA services as soon as possible. Veterans Justice Programs accomplish this by building and maintaining partnerships between VA and key elements of the criminal justice system.

Vision

- Every justice-involved Veteran will have access to the care, services and other benefits to help him or her maximize their potential for success and stability in the community, including by avoiding homelessness and ending their involvement in the justice system.

Veterans Justice Outreach

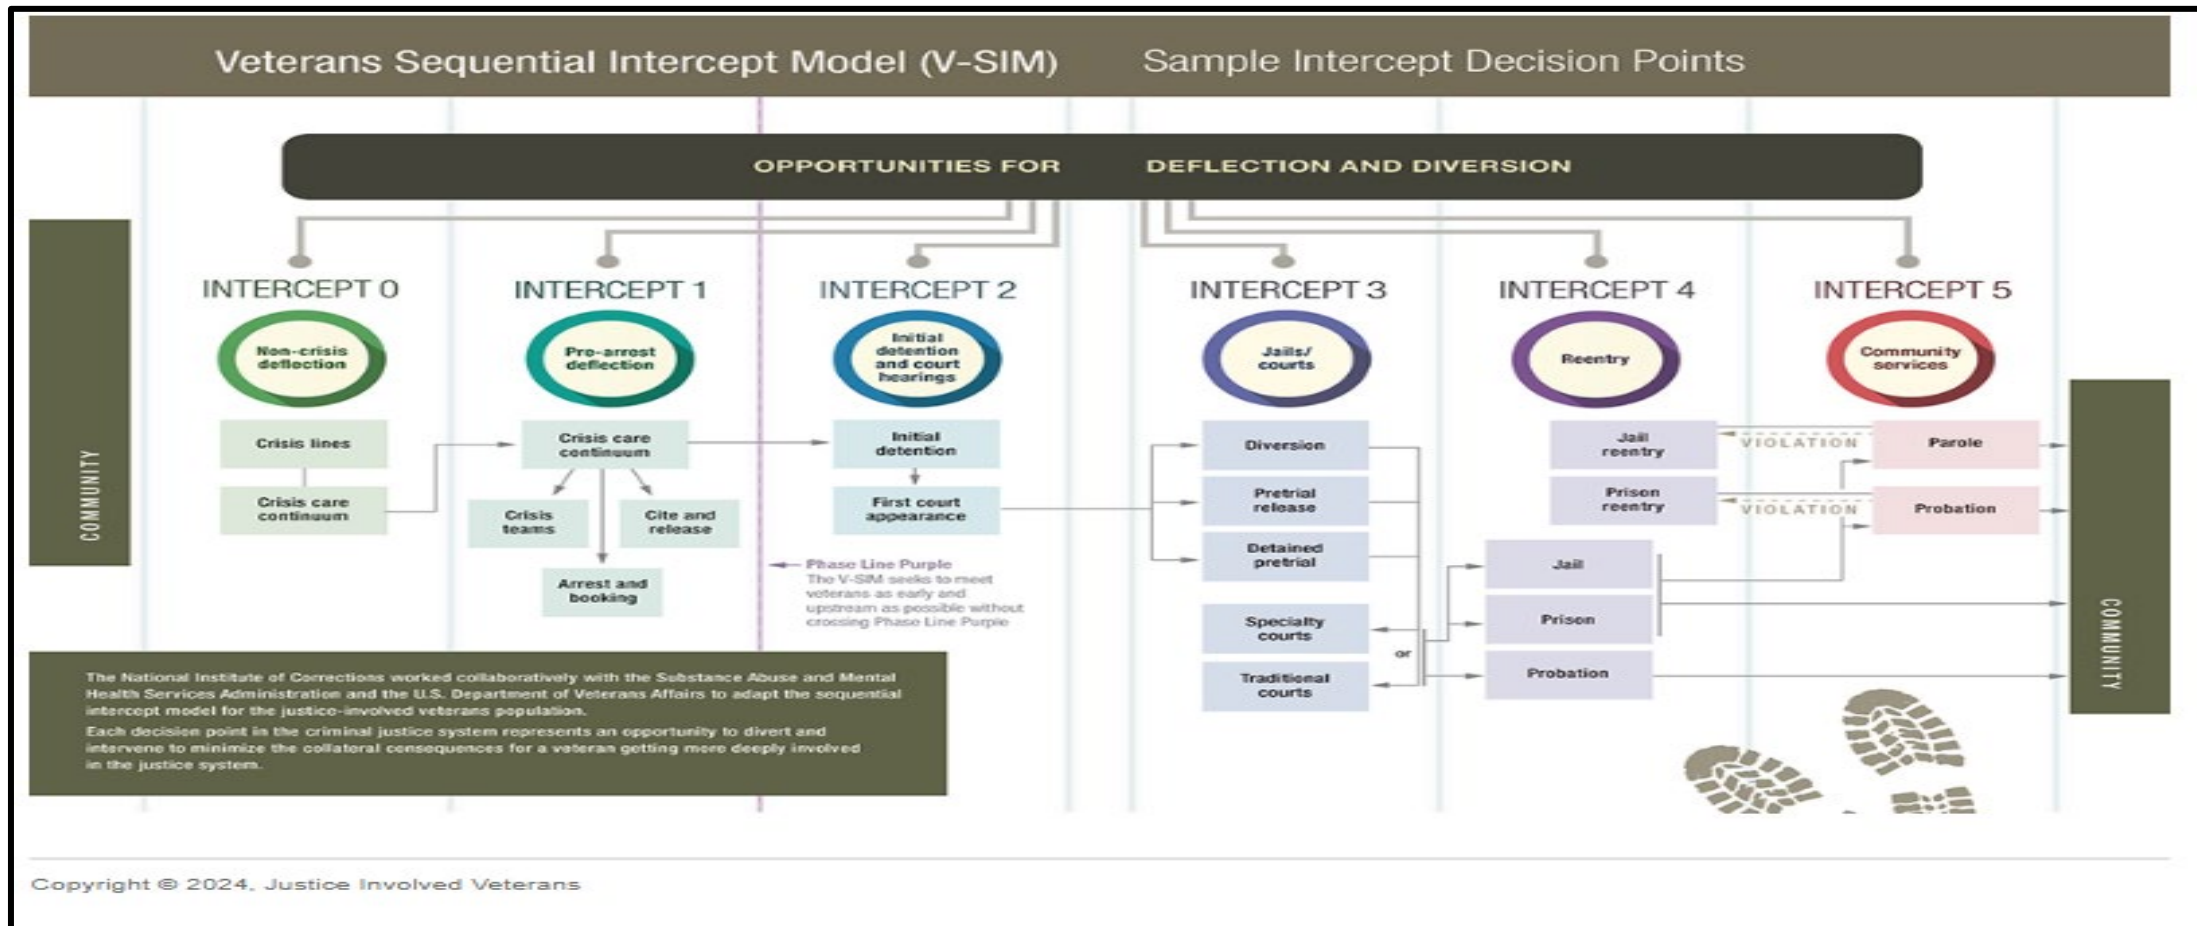

Social Work Case management

How Deflection (Int 0-1) Differs from Diversion (Int 2-5) Meeting Our Veterans Earlier than Ever Before

Deflection (Intercepts 0 -1)

- Centered in the community
- Moving away from justice system without having entered it
- Behavioral health guided with criminal justice partnerships
- No arrest record and so no collateral consequences

Criminal Justice Diversion (Intercepts 2-5)

- Centered in the justice system
- Moving out of justice system after having entered it
- Criminal justice guided with behavioral health partnerships
- Arrest record and related collateral consequences

Working with the Older Veteran

Presenter
Video Box

- Older Veterans may face additional vulnerability because of disability, trauma, financial strain, cognitive changes, or social isolation.
- There are some common concerns among older veterans, such as mobility limitations, chronic illness, depression, grief, or benefits confusion.
- It is not uncommon for older Veterans to AVOID reaching out to the VA and requesting help.
- Veterans tend place a high premium on independence and may be reluctant to seek help are fully explain their struggles.

Case Example:

How Veteran Justice Social Worker would be involved

Presenter
Video Box

Mr. Miller is living out in western Nebraska. He is 80 years old. His wife died 10 years ago, and he has generally just “getting by” but he seems confused most of the time. The neighbors notice that he hasn’t been able to keep up with the yard, and he was seen once with a sign that he was holding up asking for donations of food as people drove by the house.

The neighbors called the police out of concern. The police determined that he might be eligible for VA healthcare and reached out to the Veteran Justice Outreach Social worker.

Explaining the VA

Presenter
Video Box

The Department of Veterans Affairs is the second largest administrative agency in the U.S.

It is divided into 3 administrations:

- Veterans Benefits Administration (VBA)
- Veterans Health Administration (VHA)
- National Cemetery Administration

Social Security Disability and Veterans Affairs Disability — How Do They Compare?

Presenter
Video Box

<https://www.ssa.gov/pubs/EN-64-125.pdf>

Both the Social Security Administration (SSA) and the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) administer programs that pay disability benefits to eligible individuals. The differences between the programs these agencies administer can be confusing. Each agency must follow its own definition of disability, as directed by laws drafted by Congress.

Many folks working with the elder population may have a reasonable understanding of SSI, SSDU and Medicaid but understanding the VA can be harder since there are different types of programs.

VA Benefits

Presenter
Video Box

Elderly Veterans may be eligible for a wide-variety of benefits available to all U.S. military Veterans. VA benefits include disability compensation, pension, education and training, health care, home loans, insurance, Veteran Readiness and Employment, and burial.

Understanding VA Priority Health Care Groups

Presenter
Video Box

- The VA uses eight priority health care groups to categorize veterans, each based on factors like service-connected disabilities and income. The level of benefits and care available depends on the group to which a veteran is assigned.
- The VA categorizes veterans into priority groups based on their service history, service-connected disabilities, income, and other considerations. Veterans in higher-priority groups receive immediate access to free or low-cost health care, whereas those in lower-priority groups might have to pay more. Veterans are encouraged to apply and verify their eligibility to ensure they receive the benefits to which they are entitled.

Service-Connected Disability

Presenter
Video Box

A “service-connected disability” is a disability that is related to your active military service. Your disability is assigned a rating (0% to 100%) based on how severely it impacts your daily life.

VA Disability Compensation

VA Disability Compensation is a monthly tax-free payment to Veterans who have a service-connected disability. The higher your rating, the higher monthly payments will be. However, having a disability caused by your active military service does NOT automatically start disability compensation payments. You need to APPLY for those benefits. It is important to do this because your service-connected disability status affects your VA co-pay and what programs you are eligible for.

Am I eligible for VA disability compensation?

Presenter
Video Box

You may be eligible for VA disability benefits or compensation if you meet both of these requirements.

Both of these must be true:

- You have a current illness or injury (known as a condition) that affects your mind or body, and
- You served on active duty, active duty for training, or inactive duty training

And at least one of these must be true:

- You got sick or injured while serving in the military—and can link this condition to your illness or injury (called an in-service disability claim), or
- You had an illness or injury before you joined the military—and serving made it worse (called a pre-service disability claim), or
- You have a disability related to your active-duty service that didn't appear until after you ended your service (called a post-service disability claim)

Presumptive conditions

For some conditions, we automatically assume (or “presume”) that your service caused your condition. We call these presumptive conditions.

If you have a presumptive condition, you don't need to prove that your service caused the condition. You only need to meet the service requirements for the presumption.

Special Monthly Compensation

Presenter
Video Box

- If you receive VA compensation for a service-connected disability, you may be eligible to receive additional monthly monetary benefits if you ALSO:
- Require significant help with your personal care needs by another person because of your disability, or
- Are bedridden because of your disability
- You can use your Special Monthly Compensation payments to help pay for services that you need.

Non-Service-Connected Pension

Presenter
Video Box

Non-Service-Connected Pension is a monthly tax-free benefit for wartime Veterans who have low-income, moderately low assets, and are age 65+ or totally disabled.

1. Must have served 1-day during designated period of war
2. Annual income must be below VA guidelines
3. Net worth/assets must be less than $127,061 Amount of benefit is based the Veteran's countable income, number of dependents, and disability severity

Case Example 2

Presenter
Video Box

Mr. F is a 75-year-old Vietnam War Veteran who served inside Vietnam. He has never applied for VA financial Benefits, and he is now starting to experience some functional decline stemming from hearing loss, back problems, diabetes, and neuropathy.

He hurt his back while in Vietnam but never talked to anyone about it. He has been receiving his healthcare at the VA but always said he wasn't interested when it was suggested that he consider applying for financial benefits.

Reasons Veterans may give for choosing to not apply:

Presenter
Video Box

- "I didn't serve in combat, so I don't qualify"
- "I wasn't injured, so I don't deserve it"
- "My discharge wasn't honorable enough" (even when it actually is eligible)
- Don't want to be seen as needing help or as a "charity case"
- Military culture of self-reliance — asking for help feels like weakness
- Don't want to take benefits from veterans who "deserve it more"
- Shame around mental health diagnoses (especially older male veterans)
- Distrust of VA / Government
- Past negative experiences with VA care or bureaucracy
- Distrust of government institutions broadly
- Fear that records or information will be used against them (especially relevant for justice-involved vets)

More Reasons why Veteran's Don't Apply

Presenter
Video Box

- Concerns about losing privacy or autonomy
- The application process feels overwhelming or confusing
- No transportation to VA facilities
- Long wait times discourage follow-through
- Limited internet access to apply online
- Low literacy or difficulty with paperwork
- Believe a felony disqualifies them (often not true)
- Homeless and don't have a stable address for correspondence
- Substance use makes consistent follow-through difficult
- Untreated mental illness (anosognosia — not aware they're struggling)
- No one in their life encouraging them to apply
- MST Survivors
- Don't want to revisit trauma through the claims process
- Fear they won't be believed
- Shame or guilt around the experience

How do I apply for VA Disability Compensation?

Presenter
Video Box

There are several ways to apply for your service-connected disability status. You can:

- Complete and mail VA Form 21-526EZ-ARE to your Veterans Benefits Administration (VBA) regional office. In Lincoln this office is located at: 3800 Village Dr, Lincoln, NE 68516 .
- Complete the application online using an eBenefits account, or
- Work with an accredited representative or agent, such as a Veteran Services Officer, or visit your local VBA office for assistance. NOTE: Veteran Service Officers do not charge for this service.

Case Example 3

Presenter
Video Box

Mr. D is an 86-year-old Vietnam War veteran who lives in his own home. He is already service-connected at 60% for combat-related physical injuries. He is now experiencing cognitive decline and has been suffering with symptoms like nightmares, hypervigilance, and flashbacks.

He is also newly enrolled with the VA and completed a health exam.

What next? The family isn't sure he can live alone.

VA Contracted Community Nursing Home

Presenter
Video Box

VA contracts with community nursing homes to care for Veterans. The Community Nursing Home program is offered in many communities so Veterans can receive care near their homes and families.

Am I eligible?

Eligibility for a Community Nursing Home is based on clinical need and setting availability. The VA will only pay for Community Nursing Home care if you meet eligibility criteria involving your service-connected status, level of disability, and income.
