Pharmacy technicians. It was determined that 21% of the respondents have recently changed jobs which is consistent with what is being seen at the national level. Concerning areas were comments regarding stress, anxiety, and overall well-being. Numbers were highest amongst chain pharmacists. The survey identified that there are work force needs. Dr. Mueting was impressed with the results and confirmed what they thought. The answer is not adding more technicians. Pharmacists need help doing what they need to do. Redefining adequate staffing may be needed. These issues are not just found in Nebraska. Other ideas might be minimum staffing based on prescription volume. Complaint process might need to be streamlined specifically to pharmacy. Pharmacy educational program enrollment is currently down to 60 from 200 that was seen 10 years ago. Ms. Lester asked if there was a pharmacist support network. Dr. Mueting explained that it is very expensive and doesn’t know of one specifically for pharmacists. Tomlinson asked if there are minimum staffing guidelines. Dr. Mueting explained that prescriptions are not all the same along with not all pharmacists and pharmacy technicians are the same. NPA will be looking at strategic planning for the pharmacy profession. Mr. Cushman offered to ask the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy regarding a common definition amongst other states of adequate staffing and offered to streamline the complaint form. According to the Pharmacy Technician Certification Board (PTCB), there is only 60 days to report continuing education to their recertification program. There is a lag between individual's paying their recertification fee and get renewed. Then PTCB at a later date reviews the individual's continuing education. Dean Willson, RP, Pharmacy Inspector, commented running into this issue with both PTCB and an individual certified through UNMCs program. This issue can cause problems with pharmacy technicians being in compliance with the requirement of certification. Judy Neville, UNMC, commented that PTCB used to allow individuals to upload their own continuing education. However, PTCB now checks CPE monitor and if an individual does not see continuing education on the CPE monitor list of continuing education, then they can make comments on the CPE monitor.

Remote Dispensing – Clarification of Distances Between Pharmacies

Dr. Mueting explained that there has been many appeals to remove the mileage between pharmacies when applying for a remote pharmacy. Someone mentioned that they were told that they could not have a remote pharmacy within 10 miles of a hospital pharmacy. The hospital in question does not hold a community pharmacy. The intent of the law was not to include hospital pharmacies dispensing to patients of record in this scenario.
